Buckingham House Lecture Theatre

This raked theatre seats 140 delegates and has high standard A.V. technology. A comfortable and well-presented room for presentations and lectures; there is a low stage with lectern and space for panels or top tables.

AV can be controlled via the lectern, from the rear of the room and by our on site technician from our AV office. There is space at the rear of the lecture theatre for translation booths and we can provide equipment for voting or additional screens for Twitter feeds – our technician would be delighted to discuss
